This series is one we've had for 40 years, since the reel-to-reel tape days, but never offered it in any other format until now. Distributed by the Mutual Network, it's a way above average mystery/horror/sci-fi series. Written and produced by Richard Thorne, it had its earliest beginnings in 1947. A few of those earlier shows are also shown below. The common run and program numbers shown below, however, are from 1953. Not all episodes have survived, but below is a sample now available.

- 11401 The Perfect Script 02/13/1947 (Greenwich Furniture)
- Death In The Bayous 03/09/1947 (Greenwich Furniture)
- 11402 The Judges House 04/03/1947 (Greenwich Furniture)

Happy New Year! This is an abbreviated message this time. There is a lot going on these days here at the radio ranch. The digital library continues to expand at a rate that's hard to stay on top of. Mostly we're listening to and responding to what your interests are.

After a year of waiting with baited breath, we have a website up and running for the first time since the early 2000s (before anyone was online -- we were, but you weren't!). Now we're back with a work in progress, As of this writing, you can access copies of our last few mailers and view many of the shows we've released during the past few years. The cost of paper and printing has never gone down, but we will be sending out a 2022 print catalog hopefully by the time you read this. Your response determines the future of this and all print publications. We realize some of you do not have computers or smart phones and that is the reason we do these mailings.

There are also plans for a secondary website -- basically to highlight our professional services, but also as a hosting platform for BRC RADIO LIVE. In the meantime, our weekly radio show can always be heard both locally and online on WHFR.FM on your smart phone or computer (details are on page 3). You can call the studio line during the program to make a suggestion for a future show at 313 845-9676, all free for your listening!

Thanks for your support!
